The Saint John Police have arrested a 37-year-old woman for possession of property obtained by crime.

It is reported that:

On Wednesday, April 17, 2024, at approximately 3:49 p.m., police responded to the 800-block of Manawagonish Road, in relation to an individual trespassing on private property. The homeowner had received a notification from their video surveillance system indicating that someone was on the property. A description of the suspect was provided to the responding officers.

The first officer arrived on scene and located a vehicle in the yard that did not belong to the homeowner. The vehicle had allegedly been reported stolen earlier in the day.

Additional Police Officers responded to the location and took a female suspect into custody, in a nearby area.

The accused was later released from custody to appear in court on July 09, 2024.

The Saint John Police would like to thank the public for their assistance.
