

Message from the President:

The New Brunswick Association of Chiefs of Police are dedicated to providing leadership that maximizes partnerships while promoting innovative strategies that enhance public safety.

Our members understand and respect, as police leaders, our communities look to use for accountable, transparent, and stable leadership in times of comfort and chaos.

Collective, professional, authentic leadership builds trust and confidence in our communities across the province.

There is no greater honour than serving and providing a collaborative approach to public safety in our very unique communities.

I am proud and honoured to serve the members of the New Brunswick Association of Chiefs of Police as President as we take on the future challenges in the complex world of policing, working with partners and stakeholders to continue to exceed the expectations of all those who count on us.

Yours in leadership.

Chief Robert M. Bruce, Saint John Police
President of the New Brunswick Association of Chiefs of Police
